Floating Seadrome

Nicknamed the "Lily" from its resemblance to lily leaves or palms, this floating airfield was one of the best-kept secrets of the war. It is made from a number of buoyant cans with hexagonal surfaces so linked together that they give to the motion of the sea in any direction and still remain rigid enough to support heavy aircraft. Built in sections, it is portable, and was invented by the British at the start of the war. Here, British engineers and Army officers examine one of the sections after it has been in operation for some time.

U. S. Acts in Strikes With 350,000 Out

Top floors of many of New York's skyscrapers took on a ghost-like atmosphere today in the two-day-old strike of elevator operators and building service men that raised to more than 350,000 the number of striking idle in the nation.

Some 100,000 workers joined the army of idle over labor disputes within the past 24 hours as labor-management strife gained headway.

Increased wages were the principal demands in the majority of the disputes.

No immediate prospect of a settlement of the New York strike was in sight.

Union officials placed at 15,000 the number of workers idle in 1575 multi-storied office and loft buildings, and predicted the number would mount before the day ended as a result of additional walkouts and sympathy strikes.

Police estimated 2015 buildings, including the 102-story Empire State, affected.

Extension of the strike to 1000 to 1200 apartments was threatened by David B. Sullivan, president of local 32-B, A. F. of L. Building Service Employes International Union.

The Furriers Joint Council of New York (CIO) issued a call for an open-air meeting and ordered members "to support building strikers." Sullivan said the United Electrical, Radio, Machine Workers of America also had instructed members not to cross picket lines.

Max Danish, spokesman for the Independent Ladies Garment Workers Union, declared the strike would paralyze the garment industry because "garment workers won't cross a picket line."

Union hotel service employes announced sympathy with the strike and scheduled a meeting for Friday to decide on further action.

Mail delivery, trash collections and work schedules were crippled.

Some employes in affected buildings took unauthorized holidays. Others were given permission to remain away from work. Some climbed stairs.

Mayor LaGuardia announced a health emergency would be proclaimed if the strike spread to apartment houses and said the city would provide elevator operators to maintain service above the sixth floor in residential buildings.

Newspapers printed "helpful hints" to stair climbers. One gave a health chart, telling persons of various age groups how high they could climb without danger of heart attack (age 40 to 50, three flights, 30 to 40, six flights, up to

OH, MY ACHING FEET!—Toiling up 20 stories of the Empire State building made these three girls, with six tender feet, tired. They had only five more floors to reach their office, but were forced to rest. The strike of New York building service employes, including elevator operators, caused the long walk up.

Uprising Flares In Indo-China

SAIGON, Sept. 25 (AP)—British mortars and heavy machine guns were turned today on hidden Annamite (Indo-Chinese Independence) forces in an attempt to quell a flaring uprising.

This capital of Indo-China has been in a virtual state of war since a French soldier was fatally shot by a native and a French civilian was stabbed to death outside a bank in the downtown commercial district.

U. S. TO RETURN NAVAL BASE

QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 25 (INS)—The United States government was revealed to be ready to return the U. S. Navy base at Salinas to Ecuadorean authorities this week.

M'Arthur Sees Long Jap Rule

TOKYO, Sept. 25 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur announced today through a headquarters spokesman the Allied occupation of Japan "might last many years," although with minimum occupation forces participating.

(Emperor Hirohito meanwhile told New York Times correspondent Frank Kluckhohn in an interview he had expected 1941 Premier Hideki Tojo to declare war against the United States in the usual, formal manner—and had not expected his imperial war rescript to be used as Tojo used it when Japan launched her sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.)

Combat-clad veterans of Palau dashed ashore at Aomori today to expand the ground forces' occupation to Honshu's northern tip, and the Navy reported 48 warships carrying 20,000 service personnel home for discharge were scheduled to leave Pearl Harbor today.

MacArthur's statement was issued in denial of a report Sept. 21 by Ted Dealey, president of the Dallas, Tex., Morning News. Dealey had written that MacArthur told him the occupation could end in six months "If we are not too ruthless and cruel."

"What he (MacArthur) said," today's statement asserted, "was that occupation forces, under favorable conditions, could be reduced to minimum size in six months.

"He has stated that the occupation itself might last many years."

Stripped of special privileges by the Allied command, Domei News Agency probably will quit, its president, Inosuke Furuno, reported today. He said he had decided to recommend its dissolution to the next meeting of the board of directors. Noting that three major Tokyo dailies were considering formation of a new agency, he said "it would be impossible to make both ends meet" if Domei attempted to operate in competition.

Armed with a presidential directive making it clear he is the highest authority in Japan, MacArthur meanwhile clamped other controls more tightly on Japan's political and economic life.

Latest decrees forbade making arms, ammunition and aircraft; promised priorities necessary for production of food, clothing and houses; required careful reporting of virtually every large-scale financial transaction; unshackled the Jap press, and spurred democratic education.

Allies May Ban All Neutrals in Germany

By EDWARD D. BALL

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Allies issued a 48-point proclamation to the Germans today, legalizing the most complete control ever imposed on a conquered nation, and served notice representatives of neutral nations might be required to withdraw.

The document, divided into 12 sections and covering 10 single-spaced typewritten pages, listed Allied requirements under conditions "arising from the complete defeat and unconditional surrender of Germany."

Many points listed had been handled in directives previously. Sectional highlights included:

The abolishment of "all German land, naval and air forces, the SS, the SA, the SD and Gestapo, with all their organizations, staffs and institutions" and quasi-military associations "which serve to keep alive the military tradition in Germany."

German authorities were directed to arrange for reception and maintenance of German civilians in areas affected by Red-drawn boundaries. The proclamation said the Germans were to cease seizing, removing, concealing or destroying property in such areas and Allied authorities would determine what personal property might be taken out.

All German diplomatic, consular and commercial representatives are recalled, and "Allied representatives may require the withdrawal from German of neutral diplomatic, consular, commercial and other officials and members of neutral service missions."

All information and documents required for trial of war criminals is to be turned over and the Germans ar eto comply with any directives for the seizure of the defendants' property.

The proclamation said the Nazi party was "finally abolished and declared to be illegal." Henceforth, it added, there will be no secret organizations in Germany and no more racial discrimination.

Quincy Bus-Trolley Strike Tomorrow to Hit 50,000

A strike of 250 bus and trolley operators of the Quincy division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway will be called at 5 a. m. tomorrow, Russell Withrow, president of the Quincy union, announced today.

The strike would affect more than 50,000 persons in the South Shore area, extending from Quincy to Brockton and including Milton, Ashmont, Mattapan, Holbrook, Braintree, Weymouth and Hingham.

Withrow said Local 253, Amalgamated Ass'n of Street Railway & Motor Coach Employes of American A. F. of L. protested appointment of a superintendent for Quincy from out of town.

Thomas Markham of Lowell was recently named division superintendent. Withrow said Markham had been quoted as telling members there would be "no more promotions from the ranks." Withrow said the vote to strike was 114 to 6.

Fred Cummings, vice president of the company, said Markham's appointment "was in keeping with a policy of this company for several years."

"I don't know why these men are complaining about Markham's appointment," Cummings said. "Neither the president nor vice-president of their local is a Quincy man."

Cummings said the company would not accede to the union demand for Markham's removal.

Local Oil Strike Parley Adjourns in Deadlock

After a three-hour conference at the State House, Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, announced that officials of the Shell Oil Co. and representatives of strikers in oil depots in Cambridge and Waltham still were deadlocked.

"We'll bring them back here in a day or two and make another attempt to settle their difficulties," Gen. Cole said.

At the same time Frederick M. Knight, labor department conciliator, announced that an agreement had been reached on both sides in the five-day-old strike of Lowell coal truck drivers and that the representatives had returned to Lowell to present the compromise to their respective groups.

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 25 (AP)—Sydney faced a grave industrial crisis today as the result of a series of strikes involving 20,000 workers.

Molotov, Bevin in Bitter Clashes

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Bitter personal clashes were reported today between British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov as the Big Five council talked of boundaries, repatriation and food apparently without moving nearer to any major agreements.

Reliable sources said the Russians were unreceptive to American and British proposals that Austria be fed from the great Balkan granary, always its source of farm products, and were determined also to prevent the Western powers from discussing Balkan frontiers.

Molotov was reported also to have flatly opposed American and British proposals that arms reduction clauses be written into peace treaties with Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

Molotov was understood also to have suggested a joint Allied policy in the Far East. His idea, it was learned, would be that Gen. MacArthur should consult an inter-Allied commission in making policy for Japan and other Pacific regions.

Conference sources said U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes objected to the Russians raising such a question at this conference because he came here with the understanding that only European issues would be discussed.

An informant who attended the secret sessions of the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France and China gave this as an example of the friction between Molotov and Bevin:

Molotov, objecting to the British attitude against Balkan governments sponsored by Russia, declared that Bevin was supporting an anti-democratic regime in Greece.

Angered, Bevin retorted that he refused to permit that he be spoken to in such a tone. "Besides," Bevin is reported to have said, "I am tired of always being the butt for accusations. It is as though I am always being put in the prisoners' dock. Is it because I used to be a docker?"

"Well," Molotov was said to have replied, "I dont know but there is one thing you and I have in common anyway. Our nobility is not very old."

In Custody Fight

Coulter Admits Holding Gun as Guest Fled Home

Army Lt. Philemon B. Coulter, former assistant state's attorney in Maryland, admitted in Suffolk probate court today he was of a "quite jealous" disposition and on one occasion might have had a pistol in his hand just before a male guest hurriedly left the Coulter home.

Coulter, a tank unit officer more than six feet tall, is fighting the separation petition of Mrs. Grace Livermore Coulter of Reservoir rd., Chestnut Hill. She charges cruel and abusive treatment and gross habits of intoxication and asks custody of their two sons, Harris, 12, and Frederick, 10, in private schools here.

Coulter asserts Massachusetts courts have no jurisdiction. He testified that in 1938 their home was in Baltimore. He related:

"I always had a pistol in my room. I was quite jealous. There was a man staying at our house, a guest who had been on the same boat as my wife when she returned from England with her sister.

"It was a fit of jealousy. I may have had a pistol in my hand. I don't know. The man left. They telephoned the police."

Mrs. Coulter testified that on the night their guest fled her husband had come into her bedroom carrying the pistol to "browbeat" her. She charges he slapped her on another occasion. Coulter's counsel, Atty. Joseph P. Rooney, asked him about it. Coulter replied:

"She was very unhappy and had intimated she would use my pistol to kill herself. She was hysterical."

Discharges At Ft. Devens In Bottleneck

Home front bottlenecks at Ft. Devens and other separation centers are retarding the return to civilian life of thousands of soldiers, while men awaiting transportation from France are writing home of disorganization there, it was disclosed today.

Members of the House military affairs committee, three of whom inspected Devens last week, reported in Washington that demobilization at the fort may be slowed up for months because of a lack of trained personnel in the separation center.

The committee asserted soldiers were arriving more rapidly than they could be processed and paid off.

Officers at Devens said that before V-E Day there were 1500 trained men to process soldiers out of the service. But 1000 of them have qualified for discharge and have gone back to civilian life since V-E Day.

Devens now has 4096 soldiers assigned for processing the returning veterans but not more than 50 per cent have been trained to the point where they can be classified as "effectives," officers stated.

From Sept. 1 to Sept. 21, according to the House military affairs committee, the fort received approximately 6000 more men than it had facilities to process.

Oficers said all overseas men were given the opportunity to go on furlough for periods of five to 10 days, pending their processing, but some of the soldiers have reported otherwise to their families in telephone calls.

One South Shore man who arrived there Sept. 14 was still there last night when he phoned his parents he had had no opportunity for furlough.

Officers at Devens said soldiers were being discharged at the rate of 720 a day and by Dec. 1 they hoped to boost the number to 1800 a day through increased selection of low point men for processing the others.

They said also the actual processing of a soldier does not require more than 48 hours once the routine gets under way. The great majority at the fort are New Englanders.

Letters to New England parents from soldiers awaiting ships to bring them home from France are carrying notes of irritation.

Some veterans complain that at the big camps in the vicinity of Le Havre the special service operations in charge of entertainment for idle troops have bogged down badly and that daily mimeographed programs outlining movies and sports activities are glaringly in error, entailing long treks about huge camps to nonexistent activities.

One boy wrote that at the camps in point no officers are saluted, enlisted men do not stand formations and there are no military duties to take up slack time and preserve discipline.

He said the food was fair, but since few rose for reveille the Red Cross doughnut-and-coffee lines were so popular that the lines were seldom less than 1000 yards long. Crapshooting and horseshoe pitching, with a few spasmodic baseball games, constitute the principal diversions, the soldier reported.

War Dept. Due For Budget Cut

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to cancel $28,692,772,000 in War Department appropriations.

A White House announcement said the recommended cuts are due to a decrease in the strength of the Army and to reductions in supplies and equipment as a result of Japan's surrender.

In addtion to the President's proposed cut, an additional $500,000,000 will be returned to the Treasury by the War Department from funds available in special replacing accounts.

The cuts contemplate reducing the Army to a strength of 1,950,000 by June 30, 1946.

WAVE Disappears On Way to Wedding

Failure of a Charlestown WAVE to arrive in Key West, Fla., to marry her coast guardsman sweetheart caused members of her family to report her missing today and ask police aid.

The young woman, PhM 3c Hilda D. DaSilva, 27, of Pearl st, pl., Charlestown, left Davisville, R. I., where she had been stationed, on furlough Sept. 14. She planned to travel by train to Key West and marry Elvin Spineey, a former Charlestown resident and veteran of nine years in the Coast Guard.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DaSilva; a brother, Joaquin, and her sister, Adeline, had no idea there was anything wrong until Adeline received a worried telegram last Wednesday from Spineey.

"Have you any information about Hilda?" it asked. "She hasn't arrived and I haven't heard from her since the 14th."

They became concerned immediately, since the missing girl was in the best of health and full of happy plans for her wedding when they last heard from her.

Adeline said today she believed Hilda had gone from Davisville to Providence, as she had said she intended to pick up a bag checked there before boarding the train for Florida.

She was described as about 5 feet, 2 inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds, with dark complexion and hair, wearing a WAVE uniform. She sometimes wore glasses, the family said.

She enlisted in the WAVES two years ago and after training at Hunter College in New York was assigned to the naval station at Davisville and had remained there since.

Another brother, Joseph, who has been overseas for a year, is in France now awaiting shipment home with the 56th Armored Division.

Boy Missing 6 Wks., Ma Sends SOS

Okay, Joey, come on home. Nobody's mad at you or going to whale you for staying away.

Your mother dropped into the press room at police headquarters today and she looked awful worried about you being away for six weeks. She said you're a good kid and she understands.

She told reporters your name was Joseph Pumphret, that you are 14, and live in Mascot st., Dorchester.

"He's a good-looking boy with a big, broad grin that makes everybody like him," she proudly added.

And you ought to like the part where she said all the bus drivers coming into Ashmont station were asking for you and wishing you'd get back on the job selling papers there.

Your two pals told your mother you only had 40 cents when you left them Aug. 22 at the end of the trip the three of you took to Wareham. She can't figure out how you're living and that's what worries her most.

Navy to Release Dads of Three

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Navy announced today any enlisted man with three or more children under 18 years of age will be released at his own request.

The move, effective immediately, marked a liberalization of policy governing so-called "hardship" cases which are handled outside the point discharge system. Under such conditions, an enlisted man would be considered a "prima facie hardship case," the Navy explained.

Missing Boy, 4, Found in River

ANDOVER, Sept. 25—The body of 4-year-old John Wade, who had been the object of an intensive floodlight search by police and 300 volunteers since he disappeared from his home late yesterday, was found in the Shawsheen river shortly after dawn today, less than 500 yards from his home.

Andover Patrolman James Lynch and Call Fireman Henry Pomeroy and Howell Shepard recovered the body with grappling irons in six feet of water under the railroad trestle which crosses the river between the Ballardvale and Lowell Junction sections of Andover. News of the boy's death was broken to his mother by Andover Police Sgt. Ray Hickey.

John P. Wade

Word of the youngster's disappearance had been telephoned to his father, Thomas Wade, a Marine stationed at the Navy Yard at Norfolk, Va., and efforts were made to get an emergency furlough for him.

John, an only child, was reported missing by his mother, Mrs. Mary Wade, who last saw him playing with neighborhood children in a sandpit in front of the house, at about 4 p. m. Five minutes later, when she looked out the window, the child was missing.

Running out to question other youngsters, Mrs. Wade learned from Henry Roach, 4, John's playmate, that her son had walked up Marland st. toward Tewksbury st.

A right turn on Tewksbury st. would have taken the lad to the downtown section, a left turn to a wooded section only a few hundred yards from the river.

It was toward the river that the bloodhound, Matilda, an experienced tracker brought here by Rhode Island State Police in charge of Trooper Carl Anderson, turned from this junction.

Polish Clergy Scorn Split With Vatican

NORTHAMPTON, Sept. 25—Severing of relations with the Vatican by the Polish provisional government does not bind the Polish nation in any way nor does it reflect the attitude of Catholic Poles, the Polish Roman Catholic Clergy Ass'n of the Springfield diocese announced today.

In a statement issued at their quarterly meeting at Hotel Northampton, the officials and members of the association asserted emphatically that the provisional government was ruling the people of Poland against their will.

"We warn all the Catholics in these United States, especially those of Polish ancestry, that this puppet government in Warsaw, directed by a veteran official of the Comintern, Boleslaw Bierut, does not and cannot represent the sentiments and desires of the Polish nation in any way.

"We also wish to remind the entire world that this so-called provisional government was not created by the Polish Parliament, neither was it appointed by the constitutional head of the Polish state, the President of the Polish Republic.

"It is simply a creation of Yalta and definitely recognized by the Big Three on July 5, 1945. Since the Big Three have no legal right to impose a government on one of their allies, this provisional government has nothing to do with the Polish people and nation and much less with Polish Catholics."

"Therefore, the renunciation of the concordat with the Vatican by the Soviet puppets in Warsaw does not bind the Polish nation in any way, neither does it reflect the attitude of Polish Catholics throughout the world. It is only additional and tangible proof that Poland and her people are not free; that they are ruled against their will. Poland's name is being abused to spread Communistic Russian policy."

New Haven Joins Ban On Uncle Tom's Cabin

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 25 (AP)—Uncle Tom, little Eva, Simon Legree, his bloodhounds and the rest of the cast which has been playing one-night stands of Uncle Tom's Cabin in this vicinity were ruled out of New Haven today, shortly after Bridgeport had erected bars against them.

Nathan Podoloff, manager of the New Haven Arena where the musical version of Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous novel was to have been presented Saturday, announced he had cancelled the booking because of protests from Negro leaders.

In Bridgeport the Industrial Union Council (CIO), Nergo leaders, the Communist party and the Bridgeport Pastors' Ass'n raised similar protests.

Podoloff said when he booked the show it was "not considered offensive to any race," but that "in view of protests during the past two days from Negro churches and organizations, I have cancelled the show in deference to their wishes."

"It will only tend to revive race prejudice. Slavery has become a thing of the past, and it should be left in the past," said the Rev. Jefferson P. Rogers, pastor of the Bethel A. M. E. Church, who acted as spokesman for protesting groups.

The Rev. Richard A. Foster, pastor of the Varick A. M. E. Zion Church, said representatives of 7000 New Haven Negroes met last night and voted unanimously to protest against the production.

Deathknell to Jobless Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—With members voicing alarm at idleness in spreading strikes, the House ways and means committee today shelved all legislation proposing liberalization of unemployment benefits.

The committee, 14 to 10, brushed aside President Truman's request for the legislation.

Chairman Doughton (D.) of North Carolina announced the committee would turn tomorrow to writing the first peacetime legislation trimming wartime tax burdens.

Rep. Knutson (R.) of Minnesota told newspapermen "the strike feature was the deciding factor" in the committee postponing consideration of jobless pay expansion.

LONDON, Sept. 25 (INS)—The London Daily Herald published a report today that Tyler Gatewood Kent, former code clerk of the American embassy in London, who was imprisoned by Britain in 1940 for violating the official secrets act, would be released within a week.

Kent, who had been sentenced to serve seven years, will be deported to the United States, the newspaper said.

Recently, it was said, Kent's attorneys petitioned British authorities asking that Kent not be returned to America. They suggested he be allowed to go to Eire or Argentina.

Credit Controls Soon to Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today removed all federal credit restrictions on purchases of materials or services for home repairs and improvements, effective Oct. 15.

The board also extended from 12 to 18 months the time in which loans must be repaid for purchases of items other than those classified as "consumer durable goods," which are such things as washing machines, ironers, dishwashers and clocks. They remain under a 12-month limitation.

Home owners will be able to buy without credit restriction all repair and maintenance supplies, including such items as insulation, lumber and plumbing supplies.

Mayor Starts 1st Postwar Project

The first step toward starting the city's postwar construction program was taken today when Mayor Kerrigan applied $135,000 from the Federal Works Agency to pay for plans of new City Hospital buildings.

Kerrigan said the program calls for an 80-bed surgical hospital building and an addition to the Nurses Home. The total cost will be $4,587,000, he said.

Patton Now Says He Chose Wrong Words for Nazis

U. S. THIRD ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Bad Tœlz, Germany, Sept. 25 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., said today he had made an unfortunate choice of words four days ago when he compared Nazis to Democrats and Republicans in the United States, but insisted he was following Gen. Eisenhower's directives to denazify Bavaria.

Told by his superiors to clarify his remarks made in a press conference Saturday, Patton summoned a formal press conference today. The remarks had caused repercussions in the United States and adverse editorial reaction.

"Unquestionably I was unfortunate in a selection of analogies when I made a comparison of so vile a thing as Nazism with the political parties," Patton said in today's formal statement.

He insisted he was carrying out Eisenhower's directives with the "same vigor and loyalty as I carried out those which resulted in the victories at Casablanca, El Guetar, Sicily and here."

Saying some of his remarks apparently had made some startling headlines in the "home papers," Patton reported he was making a clarification in order not to "reflect on my commanding officer."

Asked to repeat the "unfortunate analogy" as well as he remembered it, Patton said: "I said Nazism might well be compared to any political parties at home, Republican and Democratic.' I also mentioned my cousin at home who remained postmaster seven years by judiciously flipflopping from Democrat to Republican."

How 'Guinea Pig 'Tests Killed Women in Belsen

LUENEBERG, Sept. 25 (AP)—A witness testified today the Nazis picked hundreds of women as guinea pigs for extremely painful artificial insemination experiments at concentration camps and killed the weak by injecting gasoline and disinfectants into their blood.

The new disclosure of horrors came from a Polish Jewess, Helena Hamermerz, testifying against Josef Kramer and 44 other defendants accused before a high British military court of mass murder at Belsen and Oswiecim.

In a low, steady voice, the 25-year-old witness told of naked women being hung up by the legs and dangling helplessly while the artificial insemination experiments were conducted.

"Friends of mine in the hospital told how the victims were first injected with some drug to stimulate heart action," said the Jewess, who was a medical student before being sent to Oswiecim.

"When sperm was introduced, the women twisted in great pain and often died."

She swore that SS doctors killed off hospital patients with injections of gasoline and disinfectants after telling victims the injections ware glucose.

"They died in a few minutes," she said.

She said Dr. Fritz Klein, Kramer and Franz Hessler—all in the prisoners' cage—selected victims for the gas chamber and Hessler "ordered six girls hanged" for alleged stealing.

Factory supervisors habitually beat prisoners and "used to make sport" of flogging men until they were covered by blood, she said.

An earlier witness, Dora Szafran told of seeing Kramer beat prisoners.

(Paris International News Service reported that it was brought out in the trial that Irma Greese, 21-year-old blonde assistant to Kramer, had deliberately shot two girl inmates of the concentration camp. Irma for the first time showed she was shaken. Her head sagged forward on her chest, and she clutched at her throat.)

Maj. Thomas Winwood, one of the officers defending Kramer and the 44 others, asked her to reconcile her testimony with another statement she had made that the prisoners she recognized in the dock were "too important" to spend their time beating inmates.

"There is no doubt about it," she replied. "He, Kramer, did take part in the beatings. But he had more important tasks, such as sending people to be gassed."

"Who's going to tell Mom?"

Union Blasts State Public Works Morale

Asserting that political trickery and favoritism were ruining the morale of State Public Works Department employes, William V. Ward, international officer of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, asked Gov. Tobin today for an impartial investigation of the department.

Public Works Comr. Herman A. MacDonald, in reply, declared many job advances had been given to employes in the past few years and that the department never was in better condition.

Gov. Tobin, in Quebec with the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, is not expected to return to the State House before Thursday.

Ward made public the letter he had sent the Governor but did not disclose contents of a letter from department employes sent with the letter.

"Personnel conditions in the Department of Public Works have become so acute," the letter said, "that a complete breakdown of the structure appears imminent.

"Recent appointments indicate an utter disregard for Civil Service and persons have been placed in key positions strictly on a basis of partisan politics and favoritism. Partisan politics completely dominates the policy of appointing and promoting personnel. The airport has recently been staffed with proteges, stooges and favorites of the commissioner.

"Conditions were never worse in the department. Political trickery and treachery prevail. Honest, conscientious employes entertain litle hope for promotion or betterment.

"May I suggest a non-political, nonpartisan and unbiased investigation of the department from top to bottom, with special emphasis on appointments, promotions and personnel changes since the first of the current year?"

Ward had attacked MacDonald previously and vigorously opposed his reappointment by Gov. Saltonstall to his present three-year term.

Net Dealers in Used Auto Racket Probe

A Statewide drive was launched by the OPA today to prosecute more than a score of second-hand auto dealers who have handled more than $10,000,000 worth of business in the past three years. Summonses were issued today for several dealers on allegations they had violated the warranty guarantee provisions of OPA regulations on second-hand car sales, especially in Greater Boston area.

The majority of complaints have resulted from claims of second-hand car purchasers that cars they bought under warranty guarantee were not in good operating condition and that they had been unable to obtain satisfaction from the dealers or honoring of the guarantees.

First of the dealers listed, Joseph J. Sullivan, operator of Sullivan Motors, Boylston st., Back Bay, already has been cited in Federal Court.

The OPA complaint alleged he had maintained a place of business for repairing and reconditioning cars since July 19, 1944, and had sold used cars from that date, although he was not approved as a second-hand auto dealer until July 19, 1945, to be effective Aug. 1, 1945.

The OPA claimed this authorization was obtained by furnishing false information and that, as a result, it was revoked last Aug. 21.

It further alleged he had sold used cars at warranty price since July 10, 1944, and that they were not in proper condition and that he also sold second-hand cars in excess of ceiling prices.

In a stipulation, Judge Francis J. W. Ford granted the OPA request for a preliminary injunction restraining Sullivan from doing business as Sullivan Motors and further enjoining him from selling, delivering or purchasing used autos at established OPA prices.

The stipulation was signed by Chief Enforcement Atty. John J. Brennan and Attorney Solomon Thurman for the OPA and by Atty. John J. Crehan for Sullivan Motors.

Thurman said the action for the preliminary and final injunction contained a proviso for treble damages and that the OPA would seek payment of $39,000 on the ground that maximum prices had been exceeded by $13,000.

Chicken-Killing Dogs Fair Game

HOLBROOK, Sept. 25—Any collarless dog seen in the woods hereabouts is apt to have his hide perforated by the first hunter who spots him.

The anti-canine trend was occasioned by the fact that a pack of wild dogs has killed 250 chickens here during the last two weeks. Police Chief Kenneth Higgins gave hunters a green light in the matter and is gunning himself. Absence of a collar on a dog will be taken as prima facie evidence the animal is unlicensed and wild.

Alton Grindle's chicken farm was the hardest hit by the four-footed foragers. They killed 210 of his flock.

STUDYING FIRE HAZARD

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 25 (AP)—The New Hampshire Taxpayers' Federation today called for increased use of firemen for periodical inspection of both homes and business establishments to help reduce fire losses.

By JOSEPH A. BORS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (INS)—Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, Hitler's confidante and envoy to Tokyo, who was being flown from Manila to the U. S. today, is expected to be returned to Germany as a star witness against Nazi colleagues.

Washington observers believed there was a possibility Wiedemann might be indicted to stand trial with the 24 top-ranking Nazis detained at Nuernberg.

Wiedemann was captured near Tietsin, China, a fortnight ago.

Romance? Crime!

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25 (AP)—Twenty cases of whisky for a wedding didn't seem like too much to Druggist Thomas Levin. Especially when the customer told him the whole town was invited for the affair

However, Judge George H. Moore threw the romantic angle out the courtroom window and ruled there was a limit on the amount of whisky sold in one retail lot. The ruling was made after finding Levin guilty of selling wholesale without a license.

His sentence was 30 days in jail and $200 fine.

GI Son Nears San Francisco In Flight Home

Bearing Cpl. George Rauseo of Malden over the Pacific to reach the bedside of his mother, the transport plane of Ambassador Hurley was expected to reach San Francisco at 5:30 p. m. (EDT) today.

Air Transport Command officials in Washington said latest reports indicated the plane was winging swiftly toward the West Coast and should make its first stop in the United States at that hour on its flight from Chunking.

Meanwhile the youth's mother, Mrs. Marion Rauseo, was clinging to life at Malden Hospital, other members of the family clustered around her bedside, after she had been given the happy news that her beloved son was being rushed to her side in the ambassador's own plane.

Failing fast from injuries suffered in an auto accident and expected to die at any moment, the mother has constantly prayed that she be spared to see again the boy who left her 19 months ago for combat duty in the China-Burma theater.

Hospital physicians reported that the news of George's early homecoming had acted like a stimulant on the mother, far more effective than the temporary results of medicines or drugs.

Ex-OPA Clerk Admits Theft

Elliot Stoddard of Stevens Lane, Cohasset, former secretary of the ration board there, pleaded guilty in Quincy court today to four charges of larceny, receiving a suspended sentence of three months in the house of correction and probation for one year.

Judge Kenneth L. Nash continued three of the charges to Dec. 7 upon Stoddard's promise to make restitution.

Police Chief Hector Pelletier testified Stoddard had sold tickets to a dance for the town's rehabilitation fund for veterans, but that the dance had not taken place as scheduled.

The chief said also that Stoddard had sold an automobile for Col. Leo H. Rohde of Lakeview rd., Cambridge, receiving $90 which he did not forward to Rohde. It was on this charge that Stoddard received the suspended sentence.

Silkworms Fast, But Japs'll Eat

TOKYO, Sept. 25 (AP)—So sorry, ladies.

Japan is worrying more about food just now than about supplying silk hosiery and lingerie.

The Jap ministry of agriculture today announced plans for further conversion of mulberry (silkworm food) acreage into human food production. Between 1940 and 1945 nearly 800,000 acres of mulberry land went into food production, and plans announced today call for conversion of 350,000 acres more.

That doesn't leave much food for silkworms. In prewar—and prenylon—days, Japan's mulberry trees covered 1,225,000 acres—of which 1,150,000 acres now go for food crops.

Same Old Tax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (INS)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue released its first batch of new 1945 income tax returns, form 1049, but they will bring no joy to taxpayers.

It is folded a little differently; there is a slightly different type face, and a rearrangement of lines so that normal tax is computed before the surtax in the long form return—but that is all.

Dog That Plasma Saved Back Home

YUBA CITY, Cal., Sept. 25 (AP)—The John Ramsden family is now complete.

The former Army sergeant and his wife waited all of yesterday at the Western Pacific railroad station for a westbound train to bring home a missing member of the household—AWOL since June.

They were there to meet Dodie, a fox terrier that broke out of her crate in Chicago, fell down an 11-foot ice house hole, lay there for more than two months before she was discovered, and then was revived by plasma transfusions.

The dog was being shipped to Yuba City to meet Ramsden on his return from service in India.

Jap, Nazi Gangs Roam Shanghai

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25—Edward Souder, Jr., American Broadcasting Co. correspondent, reported today armed bands of Japanese and Germans currently roam Shanghai streets without interference.

Souder said the Japanese greeted Americans "with gestures of contempt, instead of bowing and saluting as anyone might expect," while the "heil-Hitlering Germans" were "just as arrogant as they had been during the war."

Chinese and American collaborators with the Japanese in Shanghai also were allowed full freedom, Souder reported.

Conant Decries Fear of Losing Freedoms

Declaring there had been too many public manifestations of alarm in the past several weeks, President James Bryant Conant of Harvard declared today that the nation relied on the courage of every citizen in time of peace as well as war.

Speaking in Memorial Church in services honoring the Harvard dead of World War II and heralding the start of the academic year at the university, Conant said ideas of terror and fright "must be outlawed" if the nation is to continue along the road of freedom.

"Let us never forget," he said, "that the possibility of taking that precious step we owe to the skill, stamina and courage of our fighting men.

"We are at the beginning of a period of psychological reconversion no less important than the readjustment of our economic life.

"There was a danger that the winning of the war would engender such conditions that we would be unable to preserve liberty when victory had come.

"There are few signs that such is the case. On the contrary, on all sides we see evidence that the nation recognizes fully the necessity for reorienting our sights. For military courage we must substitute civic courage."

First Burma-India Yanks Headed Home

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The New Delhi radio said today a transport left Karachi yesterday with 3000 officers and enlisted men, first contingent of the 250,000 U. S. troops in the India-Burma theater for whom authorities hope to complete redeployment home by February.

Eight big transport planes are flying sick and high-priority servicemen and prisoners of war out of Karachi daily, the broadcast said, and arrangements have been made for air transport of 4000 monthly.

INP, by Joseph Parodi

Gallarelli Linked To Death Scene

Outlining the State's case against Samuel J. Gallarelli, 24, of Windsor rd., Medford, on trial in Middlesex Superior Court for the murde of John E. MacKenzie, 39, of uincy, Dist. Atty. Geoge E. Thompson today said witnesses would be produced to place the defendant at the scene of the fatal shooting.

Thomson said Joseph Cefalo and his sister, Ann, second floor tenants in the Ballarelli home, would testify they recognized Gallarelli's voice among several talking loudly in the latter's kitchen.

He said ballistics experts would testify the death bullet was from a gun owned by Gallarelli.

The defendant's wife, Provie, mother of two children, was in the courtroom as Thompson spoke.

Thompson made his opening statement after the jurors viewed the Gallarelli home.

The jurors were conducted on a tour of streets in the neighborhood while Thompson pointed out the various routes the alleged slayer could have taken after the shooting.

Time Grows Short To Send Buddy Gift

Although hundreds have answered the call, the time is all too short for those who wish to send a Christmas gift to the servicemen who have to spend at least one more Yuletide on foreign soil.

This is the second week of the Buddies' Overseas campaign sponsored by the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, and the mailing deadline is Oct. 15. So fill out the accompanying coupon at once and you will be mailed the name and address of an overseas chaplain to assist you.

All packages this year are being mailed directly to the chaplains of all faiths who are on duty at Army installations and Navy bases throughout the Atlantic and Pacific areas. The chaplains will deliver these gifts to lonely servicemen and women in their outfits, with the Marines included in the Navy.

Here is a letter from a Dorchester girl who wrote: "I would appreciate it if you could send me the address of a Marine. You see my brother was killed on Okinawa in May. He was a Marine.

"In this way my sending another Marine a Christmas package will make up in a small way for not being able to send my brother any. If you have any boys, Marines, who are in the Sixth Division, I would like very much to have their address."

It might be that other persons feel the same way and plan to send packages for the same reason. Also those whose loved ones are on the way home or have been discharged could help to make Christmas happier for some serviceman or woman who otherwise might have been overlooked.

Send the coupon in right now.

Points to Double For Salvage Fats

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (INS)—The OPA will increase the payment of red points for household salvage fats from two to four, effective Oct. 1, it was learned today.

The increase, it was stated, was based on a heavy shortage of edible fats for production of soap, oil coverings and paints.

Nab 2 Snake Cult Pastors at Burial

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 25 (AP)—Tearfully refusing aid, two snake-cult preachers are serving out $50 fines in jail—at $1 a day.

They were preaching on the lawn of a suburban residence in a healing service for the homeowner's blind wife when police broke up the meeting and killed a three-foot rattler.

One is an assistant pastor at the Dolly Pond Church of God near here, where a lay preacher who was killed by a snake he was handling was buried. Snakes were handled at the funeral service.

Free 1, Seek 3 in Safe Theft

Questioned for four hours today about the safe robbery at the Brighton plant of the Pepsi-Cola Co., an East Boston ex-convict was released as Boston police sought three former shipyard welders thought to be the bandits who stole the strongbox and abandoned it unopened in Norwood.

The suspect denied any part in the crime but admitted in the police lineup he had worked as a welder and had a police record for safebreaking.

The bandit trio fled from Norwood police when they were surprised while trying to open the stolen safe.

Indications that the yeggmen were determined to keep up their series of crimes was seen by police in the theft of a complete set of acetylene torch equipment last night from the Quitt Auto Parts Co., in Massachusetts ave., Dorchester.

Patrolmen Francis Riley and Edison Scholtz of the Norwood police came upon the bandits as they searched the woods near Pleasant and Nahatan sts. after a truck stolen from the Pepsi-Cola plant to transport the safe had been found near-by.

Leaping into their car the bandits crashed through underbrush to the main road, ripping off a bumper and rear fender, as Riley and Scholtz opened fire, and sped away.

Police finally succeeded in opening the safe and found it contained $3890, not the $7500 first reported. The outer core of the safe had been burned off with acetylene torches in the plant while a watchman, helpless to prevent it, was sitting nearby bound hand and foot.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 25 (AP)—The newspaper Noticias Graficas said today an uprising by the Sordoba garrison had been put down by government troops and that Gen. Arturo Rawson, leader in the 1943 revolution, had been arrested.

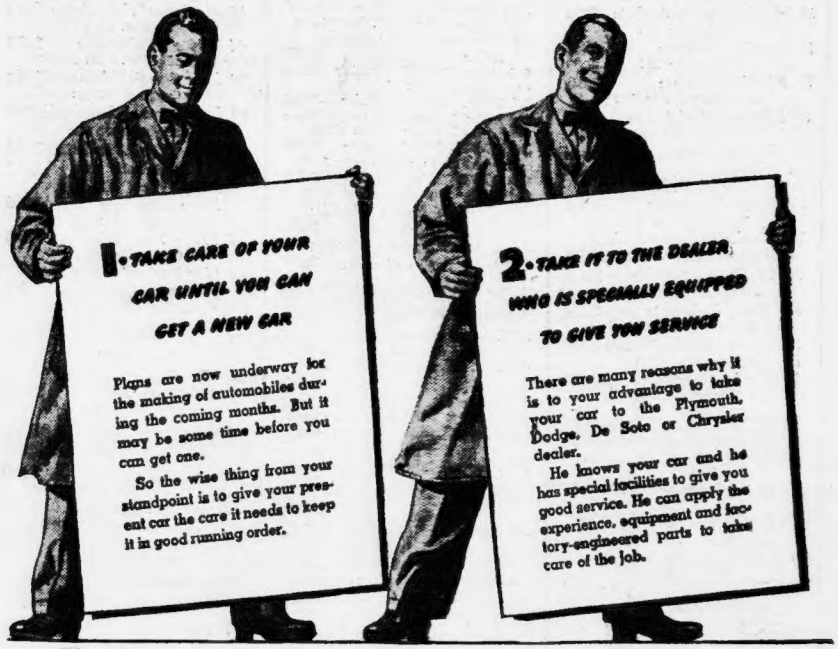
VETERAN CORONER DIES

HAMDEN, Ct., Sept. 25 (AP)—Dr. George H. Joslin, 80, health officer and medical examiner here for nearly 50 years, died at a New Haven hospital after a brief illness.

Here's the best advice that we can give to Plymouth, DODGE, DeSoto and CHRYSLER owners—

With gasoline rationing lifted, we know that now, more than ever, you want to get the best possible use out of your car and we'd like to help you in every way we can. So we offer these suggestions in an effort to be of service to you if you own a Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler car.



1. TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAR UNTIL YOU CAN GET A NEW CAR
Plans are now underway for the making of automobiles during the coming months. But it may be some time before you can get one.
So the wise thing from your standpoint is to give your present car the care it needs to keep it in good running order.
2. TAKE IT TO THE DEALER WHO IS SPECIALLY EQUIPPED TO GIVE YOU SERVICE
There are many reasons why it is to your advantage to take your car to the Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer.
He knows your car and he has special facilities to give you good service. He can apply the experience, equipment and factory-engineered parts to take care of the job.

PLYMOUTH, DODGE, DE SOTO, CHRYSLER SERVICE
IS GOOD SERVICE

MOPAR is the trade-mark that identifies factory-engineered parts for Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars, and Dodge Job-Rated Trucks. Chrysler Corporation—Parts Division.

'Sneak' Probers To Visit Hawaii

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (INS)—The Pearl Harbor investigating committee decided today to visit Hawaii and inspect the scene of the 1941 Jap sneak attack at a later date in its inquiry.

Meeting behind closed doors, the 10-man committee reached its decision during a session which included a conference with Roger Whiteford, Washington attorney, one of "15 or 20" persons under consideration for the post of chief counsel.

Public hearings will be held in Hawaii to take testimony from any witnesses who have not yet testified or to review testimony previously given in preceding inquiries by the Roberts commission and the Army and Navy boards.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McBNANEY

Q—My husband has been in the Navy since 1941. He has more than enough points for discharge, but on Aug. 3, 1945, he re-enlisted for patriotic reasons, believing that the war would last much longer. Now that hostilities have ceased he would like to be released from his re-enlistment. He has already received the bonus for his second "hitch." Is there any hope that he might be able to pay this money back and get a discharge, or is he bound to remain the additional three years? L. D., Malden.

A—Naval authorities state that he will have to serve full enlistment due to his being a member of the regular Navy. However, he might apply for discharge through commanding officer provided grounds for a hardship or dependency case can be established.

Q—My brother was with the Third Army and about seven months ago volunteered for Pacific duty. However, he is still attached to the Ninth Air Force in Munich. Will he be coming home or will he have to go to Pacific? J. P., Boston.

A—Since he volunteered for Pacific duty Army re-deployment plans of operation have changed. Most likely he will return to this country first. If he still desires Pacific duty he will be given opportunity to volunteer.

Q—Could you give me information on return of 67th Fighter Wing? Will it be listed in column "The Boys Come Home"? J. M. L., Somerville.

A—No doubt when it leaves Europe or is nearing an American port his outfit will be listed in above mentioned column. That is the best way to watch for returning units because such announcements are received from official War Dept. sources.

Q—My son has been in the Army three years with one year overseas, and he has one child. He also has six battle stars and good conduct medal. How many points has he got? R. H., Somerville.

A—Your son has 36 points for total service, 14 for overseas duty, two for each each battle star, 12 for the child, no points for the Good Conduct Medal. This gives him a total of 99 points.

Q—I received Family Allowance until my husband was discharged in July. Our baby was born in June, but I was not able to obtain a copy of the birth record until a few weeks ago. Can I apply for Family Allowance for the baby now for July? T. W., Boston.

A—No, you may not. The application of Family Allowance should have been filed prior to date of discharge of the soldier, without the birth record if necessary, but may not be filed now.

License Seamen Ask 45 Pct. Pay Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Thirty thousand licensed merchant marine personnel today asked the War Labor Board for a 45 per cent pay increase to offset loss of war risk bonuses Oct. 1.

The board promised a decision before the deadline for cancellation of the bonuses, paid during the war to all seamen for exposing themselves to submarine and mine perils. Unlicensed seamen, numbering aproximately 100,000, have been granted $45 monthly pay increases. Base pay is $100 a month. Action involves 72 companies.

SINUS TROUBLE CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

20 years eight flights. Another described proper mountain climbing technique.

Detroit's turbulent labor situation continued to share the spotlight.

Some 90,000 were idle in the automotive capital over labor disputes.

The walkout of 61,700 lumber and sawmill workers in five western states brought to a head yesterday one of the country's biggest single disputes over wages AFL workers in Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Montana were immediately affected, while 2000 additional union members in Montana awaited a call to join the walkout.

Three other strikes added 22,000 to the mounting list of idle. They included 15,000 CIO workers of the New York Shipbuilding Corp. in the Philadelphia-Camden area.

Department of Labor officials in Washington watched for results at the conference in Chicago at which oil company representatives and officials of the CIO Oil Workers International Union were to meet with members of the Federal Conciliation Service.

Chrysler Heads, Union In First Wage Parley

DETROIT, Sept. 25 (AP)—Representatives of Chrysler Corp. and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) sat down together today for the first formal negotiations of union demands for a 30 per cent wage increase.

Even as wage negotiations opened, the union was going ahead with plans to petition for a strike vote at Chrysler plants employing 80,000 throughout the country.

In Washington a petition was received by the NLRB from the auto workers for a strike vote at 20 Chrysler plants, involving approximately 120,000 workers. The board said if the petition conformed with requirements of the Smith-Connally act, the vote would be taken Oct. 25.

A similar petition is expected Oct. 1 for a poll among 150,000 Ford workers.

Private Landing Field Tip Wins $15 for Littleton Man

Sensing the news and human interest value in the fact that a citizen, possessing his own plane had built a private landing field for it behind his home, a Littleton man won top prize of $15 in the weekly news tip contest conducted by the Boston Daily Record-American and Sunday Advertiser. The weekly contest pool has been advanced from $25 to $50.

Second prize for the week's grist of timely tips, a $5 award, went to a Dorchester woman who notified the News Tip Editor that triplets had been born at City Hospital to another Dorchester woman. This tip led to the taking of an unusual picture.

In addition, there were a $2 award during the week and 25 awards of $1 each given to quick-thinking readers who noted news and conveyed it quickly.

The week's awards serve to illustrate that timely tips have a commercial value. And it is remembered that unusual news or picture tips—such as resulted in the picture of the triplets and are outside the scope of routine—have an excellent chance of winning prizes.

To cash in on a share of the weekly $50 prize pool, alert readers need only to call LIBerty 4000 and ask for the Tip Editor. If your tip is good—and you're in with it first—then you've made money.

SINUS TROUBLE CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of these unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be substantially caused, in some cases, by excessive acid wastes within the body.

20 years eight flights. Another described proper mountain climbing technique.

Detroit's turbulent labor situation continued to share the spotlight.

Some 90,000 were idle in the automotive capital over labor disputes.

The walkout of 61,700 lumber and sawmill workers in five western states brought to a head yesterday one of the country's biggest single disputes over wages. AFL workers in Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Montana were immediately affected, while 2000 additional union members in Montana awaited a call to join the walkout.

Three other strikes added 22,000 to the mounting list of idle. They included 15,000 CIO workers of the New York Shipbuilding Corp. in the Philadelphia-Camden

Department of Labor officials in Washington watched for results at the conference in Chicago at which oil company representatives and officials of the CIO Oil Workers International Union were to meet with members of the Federal Conciliation Service.

Chrysler Heads, Union In First Wage Parley

DETROIT, Sept. 25 (AP)—Representatives of Chrysler Corp. and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) sat down together today for the first formal negotiations of union demands for a 30 per cent wage increase.

Even as wage negotiations opened, the union was going ahead with plans to petition for a strike vote at Chrysler plants employing 80,000 throughout the country.

In Washington a petition was received by the NLRB from the auto workers for a strike vote at 20 Chrysler plants, involving approximately 120,000 workers. The board said if the petition conformed with requirements of the Smith-Connally act, the vote would be taken Oct. 25.

A similar petition is expected Oct. 1 for a poll among 150,000 Ford workers.

Private Landing Field Tip Wins $15 for Littleton Man

Sensing the news and human interest value in the fact that a citizen, possessing his own plane had built a private landing field for it behind his home, a Littleton man won top prize of $15 in the weekly news tip contest conducted by the Boston Daily Record-American and Sunday Advertiser. The weekly contest pool has been advanced from $25 to $50.

Second prize for the week's grist of timely tips, a $5 award, went to a Dorchester woman who notified the News Tip Editor that triplets had been born at City Hospital to another Dorchester woman. This tip led to the taking of an unusual picture.

In addition, there were a $2 award during the week and 25 awards of $1 each given to quick-thinking readers who noted news and conveyed it quickly.

The week's awards serve to illustrate that timely tips have a commercial value. And it is reminded that unusual news or picture tips—such as resulted in the picture of the triplets and are outside the scope of routine—have an excellent chance of winning prizes.

To cash in on a share of the weekly $50 prize pool, alert readers need only to call LIBerty 4000 and ask for the Tip Editor. If your tip is good—and you're in with it first—then you've made money.

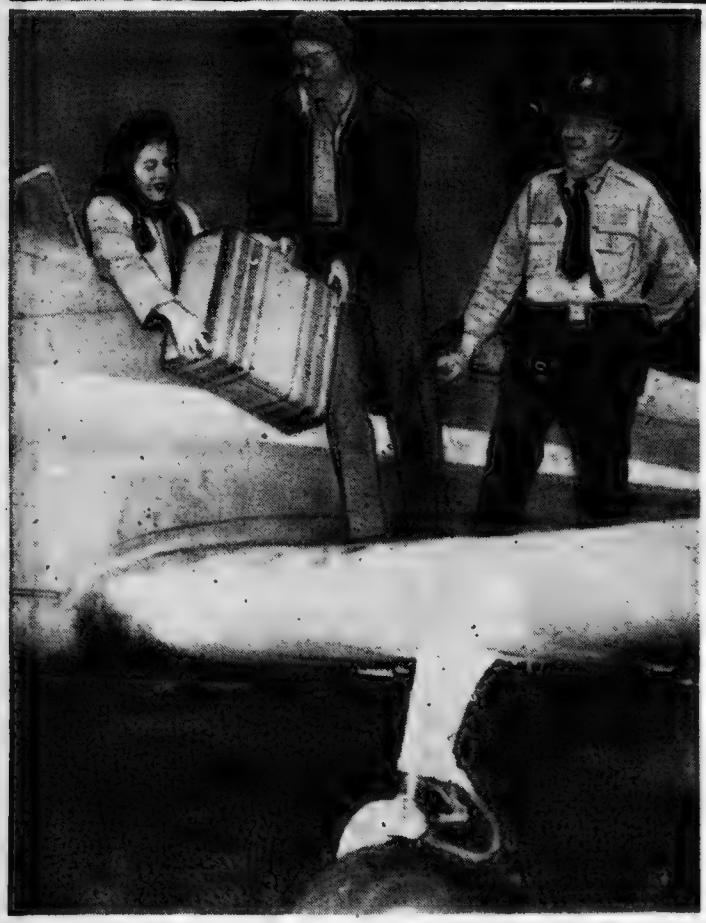
'Big Mamie' Comes Home

U.S.S. Massachusetts—Making the trip back from Japan in 10 days the giant battlewagon, Massachusetts, known affectionately as "Big Mamie," noses her way into the Strait of Juan de Fuca, approaching Bremerton, Wash. In a little more than a year of combat the Massachusetts was under way a total of 308 days and at anchor only 70. She sank three enemy battleships and damaged two.



Dreams Come True—Visions of flying home in his own plane to visit his parents came to Sgt. Herbert Wink, 24, while overseas. He bought the plane and is making the dream come true. His father, Henry Wink, of Milwaukee, looks on as Herbert and his wife climb out of the plane.

FOOLISH FAD

FROM Hollywood comes news that dogs are being dyed to match their owner's clothes.

One actress, partial to pink, has tinted her Maltese poodle so that he will harmonize with her numerous hats, dresses and coats.

Occasionally, when the actress shifts to green, the poodle goes into a tub of vegetable coloring and shifts, too.

We are emphatically against this ridiculous whim of fashion.

It is thoughtless and almost cruel.

The person worthy of canine companionship and loyalty admires a dog because he is a dog and not because he is an ornamental part of a wardrobe.

The actress who wants a dog for a stage prop should buy one of the highly colored pottery "pups" which clutter drug stores.

Let those who can appreciate them have the living animals.

GOOD PLAN

DISTURBED by the number and notoriety of divorces in this country and desirous of doing something to remedy the harmful situation, John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor and present Port Authority member, has proposed a Golden Wedding Club.

Mr. Fitzgerald and his charming wife, who recently observed their 56th wedding anniversary, will be members.

Welcome are all couples wed a half-century or more.

There should be organizations like this in every city, town and village in the United States.

There should be other organizations for persons wed five, ten, fifteen, twenty and twenty-five years.

Those who are successful in matrimony should receive as much attention as those who fail, and, of course, much more.

We are too tolerant of divorce and particularly of those actors and actresses who change partners as other people change hats and shoes.

If individuals who break marriage contracts were treated as individuals who break business contracts are customarily treated, thousands would be less anxious to rush to divorce courts.

WORTHY CHARITY

THE Salvation Army is seeking $400,000 for the maintenance of its thirty institutions, departments and community centers in Greater Boston.

This money will bring help to those in dire need; solace to the sick; opportunity for underprivileged youth, and new hope to thousands.

And as everyone knows, assistance is readily given without red tape, delay or embarrassment, regardless of the recipient's race, creed or politics.

In Greater Boston the Salvation Army receives no money from the United War Fund or the USO.

WONDER CARS

DR. GUSTAV EGLOFF, famous industrial chemist, says automobiles of the future will be able to travel fifty or more miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Tires, he adds, will be puncture proof as are the bullet-sealing synthetic rubber fuel tanks in bombing planes.

Dr. Egloff also predicts a widespread use of magnesium-aluminum and high-strength alloys, plywoods and plastics to make cars lighter and more durable.

Such transportation will be worth waiting for—that is, if the present "jalopy" can be induced to last a few thousand miles more.

Oh, the fickle state of lovers!
A heart perplexed with hopes and fears,
Today a world of joy discovers,
And tomorrow's drowned in tears.
A lover's state is like April's weather,
Rain and sunshine both together.
In a lover's heart doth dwell
Very heaven, or very hell.

WITH GREAT satisfaction I viewed the news pictures of the after-wedding kiss of Sgt. John Agar, Jr., and Shirley Temple. The sergeant is shown planting a vigorous smack right on the lips of his lovely bride who is responding by throwing her arms around him. This is a fine example for the young people of America. We feel our long and hard fought campaign against the peck on the cheek type of after-wedding kiss is a success. We sincerely believe a new day is dawning. That from now on the kisses for brides will be bigger, better and longer.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What is the reason for the sharp decline in capable, conscientious, courageous motherhood? What's the chief fault of the mothers of today? A—Your question sounds like the title of a woman's club lecture. Maybe it is too weighty for our Horses and Women Dept. What do you mean by "the mothers of today"? Are you specifically referring to the parents of very young children? The mothers who raised those boys who fought the war for us seem to have done all right. Q—In what year did Abe Hummel play the outfield for the Dodgers? A—Abe Hummel was a well-known New York lawyer of the yesteryear. "Silent" John Hummel was a utility man for the Dodgers around 1910.

HORSES AND WOMEN: Some of the more celebrated females seem to have no hesitation whatsoever in stating their ages. They do so without even being asked. Last week the Duchess of Windsor said to reporters: "You know I am 49 years old." This week Adele Astaire said to the gentlemen of the press: "I am 46 years old. At that age you don't think of returning to the stage." I am at a loss to understand why so many women, celebrated or otherwise, have recently become so eager to tell how old they are. Our Horses and Women Department is investigating the situation.

PLEASE NOTE: So Hedy Lamarr is to appear in a screen version of Katharine Cornell's stage hit "Dishonored Lady." As we recall it, the heroine of this piece gets a vigorous sock on the jaw in the second act. Maybe it is the third act. It was a leading man named Fortuna Bonava who socked Miss Cornell at eight performances weekly. Wonder who will be assigned to hang the punch on Hedy's jaw. Anyway, let's hope the scene doesn't call for too many retakes.

So, young fellow, if you have a girl named Mildred there's something you can sing to her . . . The average age of the twenty-four million automobiles still in operation in the U. S. FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—Returning service men, who find themselves barred from jobs by strikes, and that element of our people known as "the public," will labor under a great handicap in their efforts to understand the impending political fight on the picket lines which will be falsely represented by many politicians and a portion of our daily press as "labor disputes."

Westbrook Pegler

The trouble is that this is a very complex political subject which a great majority of Americans and almost all service men and women have failed to study because it is dull, or they were just too busy. Good understanding requires serious reading of laws, court decisions, union constitutions and the recent history of the union movement.

The union movement is always disguised as "labor" which is a sly political misnomer employed to appeal to the self-interest of all who work for their living and to class-hatred. Of all the Americans who labor, and some estimates hold that prosperity requires steady employment of sixty million workers, not more than ten million at present are members of the unions.

And a majority of these members were dragooned by a combination of the unions, greedy for money and political power, and the labor agencies set up by the Roosevelt government. They had to join and pay whether they wanted to or not.

Millions of them were flatly informed during the war that if they did not join and pay they could not build tanks, weapons, ships and so forth.

★ ★ ★

WHEN I SEPARATE "the public" from the union movement I am not being arbitrary. The unions, themselves, and the Roosevelt government long ago recognized a separation and a conflict of interests here. This was a faux pas on their part which may plague them now because it might remind "the public" that politics has placed this vast majority of the American people in the middle of a fight, with no organization or political representation to battle for their rights.

We see the distinction in the composition of the War Labor Board which was divided into three parts. There were union representatives, industry representatives and "public" members.

In practically all such arrangements, the Roosevelt government loaded these bodies in favor of the unions by selecting in each case at least one "public" member who was known to be sympathetic to the unions.

Even so, when decisions did go against the unions, they sometimes refused to comply with ensuing orders and sabotaged production, usually with a pretense that the "workers," themselves, were so incensed at outrageous disregard of their rights that they refused to obey union discipline.

The union bosses said they were powerless. But they are powerful enough to collect their dues and fees on time.

★ ★ ★

MANY AMERICANS have ignored this menace to their political, economic and social freedom throughout the years of the New Deal merely because, so far, it did not hurt them, personally.

Millions of words written for their information were either neglected or scanned so carelessly as to leave them still ignorant of the laws and decisions, which now restrict their rights, and of outrageous boycotts, income taxes, interstate import taxes and political taxes amounting literally to billions of dollars by private organizations having the actual power of a sub-government and no responsibility.

Some were casually interested for a day or two by persistent revelations of spectacular criminal racketeering, particularly by the gangsters of the American Federation of Labor.

But when George Spelvin, American, read of a boycott against a certain brand of electrical refrigerator, for example, by a local union of the construction trades, he refused to consider how this might permit another manufacturer to monopolize the local field and add ten per cent or 100 per cent to the price of his own refrigerator.

Spelvin hasn't bothered his mind to realize that these things happen under laws ostensibly designed to help labor which, in actual effect, however, degrade him, personally, to the status of subject and benefit the union bosses and those politicians who sell out to them.

Surely not more than one American in a thousand has ever read a union constitution and few, having read some typical constitutions, would appreciate, without instruction and attentive study, just wherein most of these constitutions violate the civil rights guaranteed by the national and State Constitutions.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25—The Screen Actors' Guild is taking up the fight against the exaggerations on the incomes and salaries earned by Hollywood stars.

Ann Dvorak

The report the Guild sent me is the result of a survey made by the Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations. Slightly over 25 per cent of all screen actors earn not more than $2000 a year. Approximately 20 per cent earn between $2000 and $4000 a year. "You may have heard," says George Murphy, Guild president, "of the screen actor who remarked 'I get $500 a week, but I only worked four weeks last year, six weeks the year before, and three weeks the year before that.'"

Out of the 7000 actors in the picture industry, not more than 600 at any time are under term contract. The report says screen actors have just received an increase in basic rates, the first in some instances, in more than eight years. Minimum scale for day players is $25 to $35 a day, free lance players $100 to $115 a week, and studio contract players from $50 to $60 a week.

I'LL SAY for Papa Herb Yates, head of Republic, when he likes a thing money is no object. He paid $25,000 for a nine-page synopsis of "No Other Gods," an original screen play for Ann Dvorak, because after seeing her in "Flame of Barbary Coast" he wanted a story for her. It's a Mildred Pierce type of idea, in which a woman sacrifices for love and success. Ann, I am told, also does a great job with Dorothy Lamour in "Masquerade in Mexico."

IT SHOULDN'T be difficult for Gilbert Roland to play the Cisco Kid. His real name is Louis Alonzo and his father was once a bull fighter in Mexico. Now Gilbert is going to do "Cisco Kid" for Scott Dunlap at Monogram. Seems he bought the rights from 20th Century-Fox. Well, "Cisco Kid" did a lot for Warner Baxter and Cesar Romero and so maybe it will do the same for Gilbert, who will be seen in four Monogram pictures this year, the first to start Oct. 12.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Politics didn't pay for Albert Dekker. He found the money he received being a statesman at Sacramento wasn't enough for his keep, so he has signed a new contract with one of the studios and will return to acting. In fairness to Dekker, he has a wife and three children, and while he might have been able to live on the meager wages he received, didn't feel it was right to his family.

I have written a column for 30 years and it has remained for Ella Raines to be the first actress to verify a story and then turn around and deny her own statement. I telephoned her to check when I heard she and her husband, Kenneth Trout, had separated. She said, unhesitatingly, that she was sorry but she and her husband weren't able to make a go of their marriage and they were separated. Then, apparently, they reconciled—or did they? At any rate she denied they ever had trouble. I am afraid Ella's memory is too short for her own good.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Frankie Westmore of the Westmore beauty clan has become an actor.

Washington Scene

By George Dixon

Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction Prohibited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—I have heard a lot of speakers, by and large, including that great orator and spellbinder, William Jennings Bryan (Toots) Shor. I will admit Mr. Shor sounds better if smothered under a blanket, but in this world we can't always have everything.

Rickenbacker

What I started out to say was that oratory is a very delicate thing. Too much stage presence, too many practiced gestures and sonorous phrases are often as bad as too little. The fellow who performs like a finished speaker frequently leaves you doubting his sincerity.

I have heard guys, halting and nervous and making every false gesture imaginable, including dislodging their dandruff, hold audiences enthralled. They had something definite to say and the fact they didn't have the art to put it across smoothly only made it more effective.

The more I listen to speech-making—and I hear enough in a year to inflate all the world's blimps—the more I'm convinced that that's the answer: Have something to say and say it.

★ ★ ★

THIS IMPRESSED itself more forcibly than ever the other day when I had the privilege of hearing Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

Capt. Eddie is definitely not a finished speaker. He does a lot better than he used to, when he stumbled and fumbled and couldn't find words, but he's still no Archibald MacLeish. Maybe he's not so badly off, at that. Come right down to it, who would want to be Archibald MacLeish except possibly Archibald MacLeish?

Anyway, Capt. Rickenbacker gave one of the most effective talks I think I have ever heard. You had only to look at the man to know he was speaking straight from the heart.

The hero of two wars—undisputed ace of World War I; adrift 27 days on a raft in the Pacific in the war just finished—discussed the re-establishment of returning soldiers.

"Let's call it 're-establishment,'" he said, "not 'rehabilitation.' Rehabilitation is a bad word."

He discussed particularly the re-establishment of amputees.

"After the last war they became a problem," he said. "They couldn't find the work they wanted to do, so they stayed on at hospitals and veterans' homes, a drag on themselves, their families and society generally.

"That mustn't happen again. There's no need for it. They can become the most valuable members of society.

"If employers will only show a little patience; give a little time to training and guiding them. The process doesn't take long; I'd say in most cases a month would do.

"We only have 50,000 amputation cases in the whole country. If 50,000 employers took one man each the whole problem would be solved!"

★ ★ ★

AFTER THE SPEECH, I walked back to his office with a man high in the publishing business. On the way over this fellow was very quiet, although ordinarily he is fairly loquacious.

We didn't discuss Rickenbacker and his talk at all. Back in his office this executive had a pile of paper work waiting and I hung around while he scratched his signature.

In the middle of signing a document, he paused. Then he pushed a buzzer. A subordinate came in.

"I was just thinking," said the executive. "What was done about that one-armed soldier that was in last week?"

"Nothing definite yet," said the subordinate. "We're trying to figure out a spot into which we can fit him."

"Get him!" ordered the executive. "Find out what he wants to do most and then take the time to see that he learns it. We're going to put him on the payroll—right now!"

LOUIS BROMFIELD, the celebrated author, was in town the other night with the most startling horse-and-buggy haircut I have seen since I used to hang around the livery stable.

Mr. Bromfield, of course has gone completely agrarian, as most everyone knows, but I think he has begun to abuse it. No honest-to-goodness farmer would go around with a haircut like that on purpose.

Mr. Bromfield, you will recall, was author of a little thing called "The Rains Came." I hope they don't came again while he is in Washington because his scalp does not have nearly enough protection.

MISS LUBA MALINA, the beautiful Russian star of "Marinka," now on Broadway, was describing the problems of a Russian lady who had been married and divorced several times.

"Her first husband was a man named Patloff," she said. "So, according to the way it is done in Russia, she became Madame Patlova. Then she married another man named Orloff and became Madame Orlova.

"She fell madly in love with a third man. But she couldn't bring herself to marry him. His name was Pushoff!"

"Cheer up, Boss. I've solved our reconversion problem . . . let's open a shooting gallery!"

Beauty

Girls Start Glamorizing

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

GLAMOR IS A PRETTY-MUCH bandied about word. Indiscriminately used, it is wont to imply a subtle siren, heavily made up, whose facial theatricalism belongs behind footlights. That's not our meaning of glamor. To us, a glamor-girl is an extra-smart-looking damsel with a savoir faire quality for wearing clothes . . . who exudes spontaneity and charm aplenty . . . and who is so appealing to the eye that we turn for a second glance.

In this world of reconversion . . . with so many thousands of men returning to civilian life to take up romance with a serious outlook on the future . . . glamor is going to be an important item in the momentous decision of making a Mrs. out of the favored Miss. Most of the men have come face to face with the screen beauties. To them, glamor is no dream-world obscurity . . . but living, breathing femininity with which they've had . . . if not a speaking introduction . . . an adoring view from a not too-far-off range.

So it behooves most girls to start glamorizing in the sense they become exponents of lush femininity . . . These aren't idle words. Ask any serviceman and he'll tell you he can't tolerate a dowdy Dora. He has seen girls with beautiful complexions . . . so he no longer can accept a miss with a misfit complexion.

We don't doubt that right now your skin faces one of two problems. Either it is at its best from a summer spent outdoors . . . in which case it needs help to stay that way . . . or it is a pale reflection of the fact that this summer you gave your leisure to work. In either case the answer is much the same . . . a regular routine of skin care to prepare it to face the harsh winter . . . and makeup that gives your face the new natural look.

Granted you have a routine all mapped out . . . let's concentrate on a cream that can and will improve the texture of your complexion . . . that will soften any dry areas of skin . . . help to keep it pliable . . . make it more receptive to makeup . . . and enhance the general loveliness of the features which the facial skin fashions. Leave it on for half an hour . . . or better still all night . . . after your skin has been thoroughly cleansed and freshened . . . and then watch the glowing improvement of its texture.

For the name of this texture cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THIS GLAMOR STUDY may be accentuating the leg . . . but you get what we mean when we say that it will be the cheerful, little eyelul . . . as marquee notable as George Lange, one of those gorgeous Goldwyn girls . . . who undoubtedly will get the jump on her less glamorous sisters when those boys return to take hold of better living in tomorrow's better world. Femininity is glamorous, what say?

Postwar Wives Source Of Worry to Some GI Joes

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FOR GENERATIONS, women have been praying, going to beauty parlors, fortune tellers, writing to columnists and inquiring: How can I hold my husband?

In spite of swamping war casualties which have reduced the matrimonial chances of millions of women, some discharged soldier-husbands are wondering how they are going to hold the wives now almost strangers, who met them at the station when they came marching home. They hardly recognized the "little woman" in the fashion-plate who had been earning a pay envelope and enjoying it as much as a cat relishes a canary.

Take the case of a certain GI Joe who has written me at length about his experience. She was so different from the tearful creature who clung to him when he went overseas. She had written that she had taken a job in a war plant and was making good money. But he had completely overlooked her weekly visit to the beauty parlor where she had been primped and beautified almost beyond recognition.

She was well dressed, her figure had returned to its girlish outline, her manner was assured. She didn't lift her eyes in that appealing way to make sure he was listening to what she said. He had rather liked that little way of hers. It gave him such a secure sense of being master in his own house.

As the cab took them to their home, she said casually: "I've had some trouble to persuade mother to continue on with us." This brought him up 'tention! He had never liked his mother-in-law. When she wrote that her mother had agreed to look out for the children while she worked at the plant, he never thought the older woman would remain.

"Will that be necessary?" he protested feebly, "now that I'm home and my old job in the drug-store is waiting for me and the plant has closed down?"

"Oh, there hasn't been time to tell you. When we were informed the plant would be closed, I went to that new real estate office and asked for a job. They have a development, building veterans' homes. Talking about the advantages of owning your own home is lots of fun."

GI Joe went limp. "It won't be necessary for you to work now. Old Doc Williams has been keeping my place and said that I was the best prescription man he ever had."

"But I love the work; it's so grand to have your own money. I never knew before what it really meant."

"Aren't you glad to see me, Mabel?"

"Sure I'm glad to see you, Old Darling, but we're living in a new world, and believe me, I like it.'

Do Not Be Careless About Introduction

Don't fall into careless habits about the way you make introductions and acknowledge them. It's very easy to do this because these greetings are so frequent and familiar in our everyday lives that we are apt to become casual and thoughtless about giving them proper grace. Remember that these greetings are the essence of that so-important first impression you make . . . for better or for worse!

(Miss Beckman will be glad to answer questions on Good Manners submitted by readers.)

WRITE THANK-YOU NOTES

A thank-you note written promptly is vastly more effective than a delayed note. The note written at once glows with spontaneous appreciation; the tardily-written note usually droops with the excuses-for-delay that must be written before the words of thanks are written.

Fashion

EASY, DEEP ARMHOLES, a casually collared V-neckline, self-buttons down to its front-closing, the wide crushed black lizard belt . . . all these details add smart distinction to every line of this aqua wool dress designed by Morgan Fauth for David Crystal. A wonderful fall starter, it serves also as a colorful frock under a fur coat. It's one of those dresses that feels so comfortable to be in and imbues the wearer with fashion confidence.—R. M.

"HI, PAL!" When in a restaurant, club or other public place give your companion your attention. It is not good form and certainly not courteous to an escort to constantly wave and call greetings to arriving acquaintances.

Accentuated by New Hat

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WITH so many heavy hats around in the new milinery styles, it's good news that some designers are giving hats a new kind of lift. Hattie Carnegie does this with many of her new hats, and it's done by the magic of lifting the hat above a sort of bandeau, so that the face and forehead show in all their beauty even with a brimmed model.

One of these hats with a lift is sketched. This is a brown tweed felt hat which has a peaked front brim that is lifted high above the forehead. The crown is rounded and the hat is trimmed with natural colored feathers which are very soft and cloudlike in effect. They make a half-garland around the front of the hat crown.

A. L. Would Ease Loans for Vets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The American Legion has prepared legislation designed to make it easier for returning veterans to swing loans under the GI Bill of Rights.

The amendment will be handed to Congress today or tomorrow. Under it a veteran could:

1—Get a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans' Administration.

2—Apply at any lending agency he chooses.

3—Have the lending agency decide if his loan is sound.

4—Wait until the loan is made before getting approval from the Veterans' Administration.

This, said a Legion statement, will whack away considerable red tape in loan-getting.

GI Shoppers Cause Swiss Traffic Jam

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 25 (AP)—The newspaper Der Bund said American soldiers on furlough in Interlaken caused a three-hour traffic jam of pursuers flocking to buy field glasses, fountain pens, cigarets, coffee and garments.

DUTCH TRAITOR TO DIE

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Netherlands news agency, Aneta, said today in a dispatch from The Hague that Max Blokzijl, radio spokesman for the Dutch Nazi party during the German occupation and a leading collaborationist, was sentenced to death this morning by a special court.

U.S.A.'s Left Wing Labor Copies England's Failure

By AUSTEN LAKE

SO NOW I WILL PRETEND to be an efficiency expert, though Heaven knows I am a most sloppy, lazy-minded goof with my own man-hours. But I will tell England what is wrong with her brand of economy and why she never attained as high a living standard, fluid money and work opportunities as exist in the United States, no matter how much money we loan, or give, her for that purpose.

Austen Lake

This will make Englishmen very mad. Because they are no different from Americans when it comes to taking advice from foreigners. But anyway I will have my say, because I have to get rid of thoughts to make room for other thoughts.

First, I will qualify my expertness by saying I have made frequent trips to England, both before and since the last war, and have scrutinized the rural and urban English very narrowly, though of course with American eyes. In comparison with the labor unions of France and America, I have found English unions extremely temperate, long suffering and patient with work and living conditions that are usually sordid. They have submitted to thin foods, squalid tenements and outlandishly meager pay for generations with scarcely a squawk. Which is basically why the recent labor convulsion swept out Churchill's Tory government.

BUT WHEN AMERICA'S LEFT WING of labor, notably the United Auto Workers, takes its cue from the English labor upheaval, it has no similar woes against which to measure its standards. There are few industrial workers in the U. S. who do not have an auto of some vintage, or cannot afford an occasional movie, or do not eat regularly of nourishments, or own a radio and a decent suit of clothes. I speak now of our industrial workers and not of our Southern sharecroppers, Okies or the unemployed poor, of which we have our share.

But at no time before the war did the average Englishman in industrial occupations own an auto because British autos were priced too high for the common pocketbook. Most of the worker's kids had to work at a early age to share the family burden. Food was thin. Lodgings were unsanitary and squalid. And the worker's over-all condition was a full octave below that of his prototype in this country. I'm thinking of British industrial centers like Manchester, Birmingham and Liverpool in comparison with Detroit, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

England long ago could have enjoyed the same general standard of living that the average American does, or did, before the war. That England did not was because its internal economy was not geared to volume sales, quick turnover and the mechanics of consumption and distribution. I mean that, if an Englishman bought a suit of clothes, a package of cigarets, an auto, a bicycle or a house, he used each item to the last ounce of its exhaustion. The British demanded durability in their commodities and squeezed them to the final inch of life.

THAT IS WHY, as any American soldier who lived in England will attest, we find them using antiquated artticles whose utility has long since expired. They'll re-cobble their old shoes, wear battered hats, bathe in tin bathtubs and smoke their butts to the finger nails, to mention a few examples.

This bred an economy of scarcity as against the American system of temporary use, repeated purchases and fluid plenty. Our customers here are encouraged by merchandising schemes to turn in their antiquated models of car, radio, wrist watch, et cetera, and buy the newest improvements. They regard money as something to spend and do so with gusto. Which is why penurious Europeans scan us as Croesus-rich, money-mad spendthrifts, who squander dough for the love of seeing the stuff scatter. We tip big, we spend fast, we buy hugely. Because that is the way we grew up nationally; and it produced an economy of plenty with intervals of depression in between.

THE FACT THAT WE BOUGHT beyond our needs and traded in previously-purchased articles before they had exhausted their efficency, is why, in boom times, our factories hummed and our workers were paid in proportion as they produced goods to sell. The more we bought, the more we produced, the more money was circulated and the more we had to spend. So we bought some more and produced some more until we reached the saturation point. Then we had a temporary depression and lapsed back into tight money and slack times until we could perform the process all over. So we flew high and crawled low. But in the over-all stretch it worked to our advantage and our scale of life mounted higher than Europe's even when we had our slumps.

But England and Europe only saw our prosperous peaks and disregarded our depression valleys. So they think of us as the darling pets of the gods of gold. But 'taint so! Our type of economy costs more per capita to maintain! England could do the same! So could France! But they won't, because they are so rooted in mediaeval merchandising that they prefer to stand off and call us "dollar hounds" and "money maniacs," wishing meanwhile they were the same, but doing nothing about it.

Now our left wing of radical American labor wishes to emulate the worst features of European economy by mistaking its failures for virtues. The United Auto Workers borrowed the French sit-down strike. They adopted its 40-hour week. They ask less work for more pay. They strike or slacken production on the theory that more leisure means greater time to spend.

In the end it will be to inherit the worst of Europe's labor and management ills with none of America's diligence, production, wages, plenty and prosperity which made us rich and envied by the world. Does any college-economics professor give me a flunk on this essay?

Yanks Battle Pitt at Fens

By BILL GRIMES

After five weeks of intensive training, Coach Herb Kopf will take the blanket off his 1945 Boston Yanks and turn them loose against the Pittsburgh Steelers in a National Football League game at 8:30 tonight at Fenway Park.

"We should win," declared Coach Kopf, "but, you can never tell what will happen in a football game. That may sound pessimistic but it wasn't meant to be. As you know, I'm the worrying type. Yet, I know that we have a better club than the original Yanks.

There isn't any doubt but what the Yanks are much stronger than they were last season. Coach Kopf was handicapped last year because he was obliged to use part time players, who worked in war plants and therefore were unable to attend the daily practice sessions.

Although a few players didn't measure up to National Football League calibre and had to be replaced, the Yank squad, which will be in action tonight, is pretty much the same that reported to Coach Kopf the middle of last month at St. John's Prep School.

For five weeks, Herb Kopf, who is a tireless worker, as well as a most capable coach, has been driving the Yanks at top speed. The squad worked out twice daily at Danvers and has been practicing every morning since breaking camp.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who have been in town since Sunday night, are working under Jim Leonard, the former Notre Dame star and Lud Wray. The Steelers will use the single wing back formation with an unbalanced line.

Ted Collins, owner of the Yanks, flew over from New York yesterday for the game. On the other hand Art Rooney and Bert Bell, owners of the Steelers, came to town with the club.

Dennie Delaney, collector of internal revenue, will have 550 members of his Yanks Chowder and Marching Club at Fenway Park.

Babe Dimancheff, who underwent knee operation last week, is walking around but still very lame. Dimancheff was to have been "break away" ball carrier for the Yanks this season but he may not be able to see much action.

Joe Crowley, the former Dartmouth end, who broke into pro football last fall with the Yanks, is one of the most improved flankmen in the league. Crowley started his football at the Public Latin School under the late Fred O'Brien.

Jack Fadden, the Yanks trainer, who was schooled in his trade at Harvard by Dr. Tommie Richards, has been with the pros only one season but he's rapidly acquiring a nation wide reputation.

According to no less an authority than Herb Kopf, Ellis Jones the Yanks' one arm guard, will live up to all of the advance publicity he has received.

Pat Sands will lead his Boston Yanks band in a special musical program tonight. On the program will be a new song written for the Yanks which will be sung by John Ardolino, USMC.

Tigers, Indians Rained Over

DETROIT, Sept. 25 (AP)—Rain washed out todays important baseball game between the Tigers and Indians setting up a doubleheader tomorrow that could decide the American League pennant.

Rain came down steadily but the weather bureau declared indications are it will stop by tomorrow afternoon.

If tomorrow's doubleheader is rained out the Tigers would automatically win the pennant even if they lost their last two games with the St. Louis Browns. In that case the final percentage would be Detroit .568 and Washington .565.

Track in Berkshires Has Model Racing Meeting

By JACK CONWAY

THE RAYS FROM the setting sun danced over the thousands of trees that form a protective covering for the towering Berkshires. An occasional huge rock stood out above the green of the trees as if breathing defiance to the elements. Mother nature had not yet put on her autumn raiment, but those of us who have been familiar with the Berkshires knew that in another few weeks the mountains would be dotted with gold, yellow and red.

A half-mile gem race track is located in this perfect setting at Great Barrington. It is the most attractive site of any race track in the United States. Even Santa Anita with its distant mountain background does not equal of the Massachusetts track directed by Edward J. Carrall.

Gov. Tobin

The grandstand, barns, paddock and fair buildings were freshly painted and decorated with new bunting. The entire racing plant was in keeping with the high standard set by the natural beauties of the surrounding country.

I would call it a model race track as it offers the features that are liked by the public and by the horsemen.

It was fitting that persons interested in placing racing on the highest possible standing in Massachusetts should journey to Great Barrington to see the six-day meeting and to make a close-up study of the turf sport.

There were never as many persons high in the affairs of government at a Massachusetts track as saw the races at Great Barrington. The list included Gov. Maurice J. Tobin, members of the governor's council who were the guests of Councilor Jim Buckley of Springfield, members of the ways and means committee who have been delegated by the legislature to investigate racing in Massachusetts, Chairman Louis Hoffman, Commissioner Harry Allen and Secretary Larry Lane of the Racing Commission, visiting justices of the New York Supreme Court, Judge William Granfield of Springfield and other judges of the Massachusetts courts, and leaders in every walk of business.

★ ★ ★

THE SIX DAYS of racing furnished thrills and intense competition. As many as five horses often came battling down the stretch and finished so closely together that a picture by "Eye in the Sky" was necessary to determine the winner.

The jockeys rode well. There were numerous jockeys like Sage who had a background of years of experience and others like Andino, Portuguese jockey, who are getting their first top recognition.

The horsemen were eager to put on the best possible show. It was their last appearance in Massachusetts for the year and they wished to end the season in a blaze of glory.

★ ★ ★

RACING SECRETARY Jimmy Picarillo was one of the happiest persons at the track as he watched the half-milers race down the backstretch with the mountains forming a perfect background and the green of the trees making the colors on the jockeys stand out brilliantly. Picarillo has the happy faculty of being able to make conditions for races that bring about stirring finishes. You are going to hear much more of Picarillo as the half-mile tracks become more important.

Eddie Carroll had the experienced Bob Frend as his starter. Bob is starter at Rockingham Park and Suffolk Downs and rates with the best in his line.

This writer was presiding steward with Dr. Eugene Bradley, John W. Moran, Jimmy Hickey and Dick Brusie associate stewards. Dr. Bradley has done more for Massachusetts racing than most men. For 11 years he has been state veterinarian at Suffolk Downs. His efficiency stopped horsemen from stimulating their thoroughbreds. He has always been fearless and fair in his dealings with horsemen.

In the fall of the year, Dr. Bradley steps into the stewards' stand. As a former horseman himself as well as a leading veterinarian, he adds to the efficiency of any race track with which he is associated.

Eddie Welch was the steward representing the Massachusetts Racing Commission. It was Eddie's first experience with the half-milers, and I know he was enthusiastic over their accomplishments.

So were the more than 100,000 persons who wagered $935,929 during the six days of racing at Great Barrington. The betting high was on Saturday when $233,525 passed into the mutuels.

The spectators came from New York and Connecticut as well as from Massachusetts. People everywhere like horse racing as they do towering mountain peaks like those in the Berkshires.

P.F.C. JOHN A. PESCE, 39 Grove Street, Boston. Husband of Melinda Ne Covino, killed in action Nov. 18, 1944. Mass at St. Anthony's Church, Everett, Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 8:30 A. M. Friends and relatives kindly invited.

Illinois in Shape For Notre Dame Game

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 25 (AP)—Offensive blocking was stressed as the University of Illinois took stock of weaknesses that showed in last week's 23-6 victory over Pittsburgh.

The squad came out of the game in good physical condition, and should be in top shape for Saturday's game with Notre Dame at South Bend.

Griff Blasts Ex-Player Umps

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Clark Griffith thinks something ought to be done about major league baseball players who turn umpire.

Maybe, says the owner of the Senators, they ought to switch leagues, along with their jobs.

Griffith yesterday protested a decision by Umpire Eddie Rommel in the Senators' costly 4-3, 12-inning loss to Philadelphia in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader.

President Will Harridge of the American League turned down the protest. It involved chiefly a rule on what constitutes a legal catch of a fly ball.

Buddy Lewis, Washington outfielder, apparently caught a fly in the eighth inning but dropped the ball as he started to toss it to second baseman George Myatt. Rommel ruled it "no catch." The Athletics scored three runs in that inning to tie and won out in the 12th.

"Rommel is an old Philadelphia pitcher," Griffith told a reporter today.

"When our manager, Ossie Bluege, asked him why he didn't take the "A" (for Athletics) off his uniform, Rommel couldn't take it. (Griffith didn't say what good a late season victory would do a team as deep in the cellar as the A's.)

Umpires are becoming more and more sensitive, not only to what the managers say, but also the fans.

Cabral Stops Mexican Boxer

By BILL SMITH

The local debut of Mexico's Baudelio Valencia, 158, was of short duration when Freddie Cabral, 150½, Cambridge applied the finishing touch in 2:07 of the opening round at Mechanics Building.

Bobby Zollo, Providence, R. I., hammered Benny Singleton, Waterbury, Ct., from corner to corner but the dusky Singleton, despite taking three counts in the eighth frame, lost the decision. The decision was unanimous for Zollo.

The southpaw slants of Oscar St. Pierre, Fall River, were no puzzle to Johnny Cesario, who stopped the portsider in the 5th round.

In the opening ten-rounder Tommy Moore, of South Boston, won an unpopular split decision over Bobby English, Fall River. The latter was a sub for Tommy Murray who was taken ill.

Soccer Pilot Quits For Belmont Eleven

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Belmont High School's "giant killers" have picked up just where they left off last season, according to the first returns of the campaign, but unless Coach Jim Mastrogiovanni picks up another back in a hurry, he admits he's going to run into difficulty.

Three backs have been lost in a week, including an overseas merchant mariner, and in spite of the presence of the soccer captain, retired, Bob Jackson, Belmont, still needs another back.

Let's go back to last season first, Coach Mastrogiovanni's first with Belmont on waivers from Berlin, N. H. His team set the sports world aflame as it dumped previously unbeatable Weymouth, 7-6. Then it smashed undefeated, untied and unscored on Brookline. Later it just missed bumping off Chelsea (12-9) with amateur pictures showing that Belmont had scored the winning touchdown.

Last Saturday, Belmont resumed its high class brand of football, kayoing Class C champion Marlboro (20-6) but Coach Mastrogiovanni feels that it was because Marlboro was breaking into a new system (under Coach Tommy Gilligan) rather than the fact that Belmont was especially strong. That point may be proven Saturday against that same Weymouth outfit.

Coach Mastrogiovanni felt that his backfield was in top-top working order until John Bonfilio, 180-pounder, suffered a knee injury. Bonfilio, a regular as a sophomore, spent a year in the maritime service, moving overseas and coastwise, until discharged to return to school this fall.

That same week of practice found Belmont losing Leo Sullivan, 175, possibly for the season with a broken wrist, and Don McDonald, 160-pound quarterback, sidelined indefinitely with a knee crackup.

Meanwhile, Belmont was capitalizing on the decision of booter Bob Jackson to quit soccer, after two full seasons as a regular under Coach Mel Wenner, to join the football team. He resigned his captaincy (although he retains his leadership as co-captain of basketball) to devote all the time to the gridiron. Now he has to share the right halfback berth with Aram "Buzzy" Paraghanian, 155-pound junior.

This pair work with Jack Hayes, 160, fb; Ken Arico, hb, 129-pound brother of Ted, and Andy Wettlaufer, 175-pound triple threat. Wettlaufer ordinarily would be a halfback but he's handling the ball in the T until such time as McDonald returns to the lineup. And he's doing a swell job of it.

Wettlaufer and Capt. Bob Dudley, 160-pound guard, are the only regulars back from last fall. Dudley has Bernie Dailey, 160, as his running mate at the other guard with Charlie "Chuck" Healy, 160-pound converted tackle, at center.

Belmont has its weight at the tackles. Marsh Nuttingham, 185-pound veteran of four games last fall, and Chris Halligan, 190-pound sub guard last season, have taken over starting posts inside of ends Stan Smith, 147, and Jack Martin, 153-pound second stringer last fall.

Belmont spares who will see plenty of service include guards—Bruce Lavis, 180, Pete Pelligrino, 180, Wescott McFarland, 192; tackles—Tom Walt, 170, another ex-soccer player who's moved to the gridiron, John Centauro, 180; ends—Les Buckley, Vin Perrino; center—Jim Breen; backs—Jimmy Smith and Bernie Higgins.

The schedule, after Weymouth, lists: Norwood, Oct. 6; Framingham, Oct. 13; Camb. Latin, Oct. 20; Chelsea, Oct. 27; Brookline, Nov. 3; Winchester, Nov. 10; Nov. 17, open, but it's possible that this date will be filled, and Watertown, Thanksgiving Day.

Green Works On New Plays

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 25 (AP)—Meryll Frost, one of Dartmouth's two veterans, ripped off a 45-yard scoring run and turned in a 40-yard gain when Coach "Tuss" McLaughry drove his Indians hard for Saturday's opener with Holy Cross.

Frost, who spent 18 months in a military hospital before returning to college, sparked the Dartmouth varsity during a long scrimmage with the second-stringers.

McLaughry spent much time polishing up new plays for the Crusaders and also tightened up the defensive loosenesses he spotted during Saturday's contact work. Frost is the keyman in the Dartmouth attack but most of the aerial tactics center about passer Hal Swanson.

ROYAL, BEARS GAME OFF

MONTREAL, Sept. 24 (AP)—Rain forced the postponement of the first game of the International League's final playoff series between the champion Montreal Royals and the second place Newark Bears.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25 (AP)—Jake LaMotta, New York middleweight, and Ray (Sugar) Robinson, welterweight title contender, both confident and cocky, announced themselves ready for the 12-round bout in Comiskey Park, tonight.

LaMotta, who has had Robinson down in their previous meetings, was confident. "I don't think he can stand up through 12 rounds," the New York slugger said. "He just barely made it through 10 when he beat me before."
